

Set against the majestic background of the Hindu Kusch, We would like to take you on a journey with the Afghan hound. In 2013, a film crew traveled to the remote corners of Northern Afghanistan to document the culture of an ancient tradition; the breeding of the Afghan hound, known as the Afghan hound. Its breeders cherish the dogs as fast and agile hunters. The documentary seeks to provide its audience with a unique insight into their native environment and the lives of their owners, who have kept the tradition alive for centuries.
